“It is really to enhance and reinforce the sustainable development goals of the United Nations to help us to realize our potential under the UN plan.”

H.E. Wilfred Elrington,
Minister of Foreign Affairs Belize

Support provided by the UN Country Team:

Impact:

The UNCT through a joint work plan by UNDP and UNDESA since 2014 has been supporting the mainstreaming of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) into national development planning processes. A key outcome of this is the elaboration of the Belize Growth and Sustainable Development Strategy. The monitoring and evaluation framework, to be finalized soon, for this national plan has prioritized SDG indicators and the country's readiness to support its reporting.

In support of greater visibility, a video was produced to inform the populace and localize the SDGs in Belize. There was strong UN leadership and participation in collaboration with government and non-government representatives. Also, communication and visibility items were produced and made available at all UNCT related events throughout 2016.

Partnership and coordination:

A National Steering Committee and a National Caucus of CEOs of relevant Ministries were established in Belize to follow up on the 2030 Agenda. The UNCT is closely co-operating with the government through the Multi-country Sustainable Development Framework that is aligned with the 2030 Agenda and jointly steered by the UNCT and the national government.

The UN Country Team established a new partnership with the initiative “Caravana Siga Bem” – an itinerant project that comprises two convoys of trucks organized by Grupo Cobram, sponsored by Petrobrás and Mercedes Benz, to provide public services to truck drivers and the community around gasoline stations. The message was 17 SDGs and their importance to everybody’s lives. All trucks received adhesives of the SDGs and both convoys started their travel in August 2016 and will travel throughout more than 100 cities in 22 different states of the country for nine months. From August to October, around 2,200 people had access to a play that was produced on the thematic areas, and around 2,600 children participated in educational and recreation activities. The initiative takes place every month, covered by a nationwide TV program customized for truck drivers. UNIC Rio edited a video produced by a local TV and used it to reinforce the campaign over 5 months to promote the SDGs across the country.

Measuring development:

The UN Brazil Advisory Group on the 2030 Agenda was established in December 2014 to facilitate cooperation between the Brazilian federal government and several UN entities on the issues of the new agenda. The Advisory Group issued in 2015 its publication ‘Following-up the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development: Initial inputs from the United Nations System in Brazil on the identification of national indicators related to the Sustainable Development Goals’. Impact:

Nation-wide awareness of the 2030 Agenda & the SDGs

In 2016, the UN system in Chile focused its efforts on the diffusion of the 2030 Agenda. The Interagency Communication Groups (GIC) developed a Joint Communication Strategy to ensure that the UN system speaks with one voice towards the different stakeholders (public and private sector, civil society, among others). Also, the UNCT created the Joint Work Team for SDGs, to provide technical and qualitative support to the progress of the activities established in the communication strategy. The strategy came to life through the production of various audiovisual and photographic material, organization of seminars, exhibitions and potent commemoration events of UN International days. The 2030 Agenda was socialized in Chileans schools, universities and academic institutions. Additionally, the Chilean Government, with the political and technical assistance of the UNS in Chile, established a permanent governmental institutional structure to address the 2030 Agenda: the National Council, comprising Ministers of Foreign Affairs, Social Development, Environment, and Economy, Promotion and Tourism; and the Government Network represented by the 23 State Ministries to ensure a mainstreaming approach for the implementation.

Partnership and coordination:

Supporting Measuring Development

The National Statistics Department and the UN system in Colombia are implementing several joint projects such as technical working groups, international working groups (on SDGs, Big Data, Gender etc.) and information exchange agreements. Under the leadership of UNFPA, 15 agencies established a joint workplan with the National Statistics Department to identify and remedy gaps in SDG monitoring and mobilized technical expertise to develop or strengthen 55 indicators.

The co-operation comprises capacity building, for instance through a capacity workshop planned for March 2017 to improve data collection capacities in the region Andina by bringing together 120 experts from the UN, government, academia, private and NGO sector. Moreover, the UNCT provided support to ensuring that targets at the national, regional and local levels were sensitive to human rights, helped improve baselines, and provided technical assistance to local development planning processes. As a result, 63 new local development plans reflect the SDGs.

Impact:

The UNCT worked with the Government to enable Costa Rica to become the first country in the World to sign a National Pact for the SDGs where Government, civil society, religious organizations, private sector and citizens pledged to promote and comply with the SDG as well as monitor and report around their implementation. Furthermore, a Technical Secretariat for SDGs was established by Presidential Decree, which consolidates its mandate and governance structure based on a multi-stakeholder approach.

The UN System, together with the Technical Secretariat of the SDGs led by MIDEPLAN, set up three platforms for "discussion" of the 2030 Agenda Sustainable Development , one with Civil Society Organizations, one with Faith Based Organizations, and a working group with a private sector. The UN actively supported the Government in the process of establishing the National Pact. The UNCT jointly provided technical advice to develop spaces for discussion on the SDGs between various key actors, to identify commitments, roles and actions of each actor, and offered support to build sectoral work platforms and multi-actor structure coordination mechanisms.

Partnership and coordination:

The United Nations established a strategic alliance with the Government to jointly lead the process of establishing the National Pact for the SDGs and is currently an honor witness of the Pact along with the Office of the Ombudsman. Likewise, the UN system offers technical support to the SDG Secretariat.

Measuring development:

The United Nations has closely supported the commission designated by the SDG Secretariat, which is formed by the National Institute of Statistics and Censuses (INEC) and the Ministry for National Planning and Political Economy (MIDEPLAN), in order to identify national indicators and targets. UN Country Team support to the implementation of Agenda 2030

“ The adoption of the 2030 Agenda was a landmark in the history of humanity... Turning into a reality what we stated in paper, without letting anyone behind, will be the main challenge. ”

María Esther Reus González, Minister of Justice.

Examples of activities implemented by the UNCT to support the 2030 Agenda in Cuba:

Analyzed the interrelation between the 2030 National Plan for Economic and Social Development, the global 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and the UNDAF in order to identify how to support the country in its effort to integrate the 2030 Agenda in national and local development plans.

Horizontal policy coherence

Identified joint programming and resource mobilization opportunities to support national priorities, such as water and drought, from a multisectoral perspective of sustainability. As result, three agencies developed a joint programme, two agencies work on two interlinked projects in various provinces, and the UNCT as a whole is implementing 21 projects throughout the country.

Impact:

Engaging the youth to raise awareness of the 2030 Agenda

A television spot about the 2030 Agenda and a mural painting about the SDGs were the results of an initiative organized by the United Nations in Cuba together with students of the Institute for Industrial Design, the Faculty of Communication of the University of Havana, and the Faculty of Art and Audiovisual Media of the University of the Arts. The TV spot was broadcasted on Cuban Television and was published on social media (YouTube, Facebook, and Twitter), while the mural itself is decorating one of the walls at the United Nations House in Cuba. The initiative contributed to awareness about the SDGs among the students; an experience that motivated them to keep working on the production of communication materials regarding the SDGs in the future. The broadcasting of the TV spot on national television brought people closer to the topics at the center of the 2030 Agenda.
